COURSE CONTENT, ACTIVITIES AND DESIGN

Activity & Design: The determination of teaching strategies used in the delivery of outcomes is generally left to the discretion of the instructor. On occasion, a department may decide that the inclusion of a particular strategy will be required (specify in "required activities" box below). For example, a department may determine that a course will be required to incorporate a service learning project into its curriculum delivery. However, for the most part, delivery mechanisms fall under academic freedom and so the individuality and creativity of each instructor.

Here are some strategies that you might consider when designing your course: lecture, small group/forum discussion, flipped classroom, dyads, oral presentation, role play, simulation scenarios, group projects, service learning projects, hands-on lab, peer review/workshops, cooperative learning (jigsaw, fishbowl), inquiry based instruction, differentiated instruction (learning centers), graphic organizers, etc.

SECTION #4 TRANSFERABILITY

Concern over students taking many courses that do not have a high transfer value has led to increasing attention to the transferability of LDC courses. The state requires us to certify that at least one Oregon university will accept our new LDC course in transfer. To ensure the quality of our transfer programs and to provide students with the best information on how individual courses will transfer, we require faculty to ascertain the transferability of a proposed course by communicating with colleagues at a minimum of three Oregon universities, asking the following questions.

- 1. Is there an equivalent lower division course at the university?
- 2. Will a department accept the course for its major or minor requirements?
- 3. Will the course be accepted as part of the University's distribution requirements?

While you may contact any Oregon university, we recommend, based on CGCC student transfer history, that you conduct transferability screening with OSU, PSU and EOR as these are the more common destinations of CGCC transfer students. If a course transfers as an elective only, it may still be accepted or approved as an LDC course, depending on the nature of the course, though it will likely not be eligible for Gen Ed status.

- 2. Refer to the curriculum office website for the Curriculum Committee meeting schedule and submission deadlines. You are encouraged to send submissions prior to the deadline so that the curriculum office may review and provide feedback.
- 3. Course submissions will be placed on the next agenda with available time slots. You will be notified of your submission's time for review, and you will be sent a signature page that may be completed electronically or manually by your department chair and department dean. It is the submitter's responsibility to ensure that completed signature pages are delivered to the Curriculum Office the day before the Curriculum Committee meeting for which the submission is scheduled. Submissions without signed signature pages will be postponed.
- 4. It is not mandatory that you attend the Curriculum Committee meeting in which your submission is scheduled for review; however, it is strongly encouraged that you attend so that you may represent your submission and respond to any committee questions. Unanswered questions may result in a submission being rescheduled for further clarification.

COURSE CONTENT, ACTIVITIES AND DESIGN

Activity & Design: The determination of teaching strategies used in the delivery of outcomes is generally left to the discretion of the instructor. On occasion, a department may decide that the inclusion of a particular strategy will be required (specify in "required activities" box below). For example, a department may determine that a course will be required to incorporate a service learning project into its curriculum delivery. However, for the most part, delivery mechanisms fall under academic freedom and so the individuality and creativity of each instructor.

Here are some strategies that you might consider when designing your course: lecture, small group/forum discussion, flipped classroom, dyads, oral presentation, role play, simulation scenarios, group projects, service learning projects, hands-on lab, peer review/workshops, cooperative learning (jigsaw, fishbowl), inquiry based instruction, differentiated instruction (learning centers), graphic organizers, etc.

2. As per Oregon State University's Bacc core Requirements, the following material needs to be covered in your course. While these content related to these outcomes has been integrated within the content of the course, you should be aware that these outcomes need to be addressed (for transferability, CGCC needs to fulfill these outcomes for our articulation agreement with OSU).

Students in Difference, Power, and Discrimination (DPD) courses shall:

- 1. Explain how difference is socially constructed,
- 2. Using historical and contemporary examples, describe how perceived differences, combined with unequal distribution of power across economic, social, and political institutions, result in discrimination
- 3. Analyze ways in which the interactions of social categories, such as race, ethnicity, social class, gender, religion, sexual orientation, disability, and age, are related to difference, power, and discrimination in the United States.

SECTION #4 TRANSFERABILITY

Concern over students taking many courses that do not have a high transfer value has led to increasing attention to the transferability of LDC courses. The state requires us to certify that at least one Oregon university will accept our new LDC course in transfer. To ensure the quality of our transfer programs and to provide students with the best information on how individual courses will transfer, we require faculty to ascertain the transferability of a proposed course by communicating with colleagues at a minimum of three Oregon universities, asking the following questions.

- 1. Is there an equivalent lower division course at the university?
- 2. Will a department accept the course for its major or minor requirements?
- 3. Will the course be accepted as part of the University's distribution requirements?

While you may contact any Oregon university, we recommend, based on CGCC student transfer history, that you conduct transferability screening with OSU, PSU and EOU as these are the more common destinations of CGCC transfer students. If a course transfers as an elective only, it may still be accepted or approved as an LDC course, depending on the nature of the course, though it will likely not be eligible for Gen Ed status.

RO Articulation

<articulation@pdx.edu> (sent by skoedoot@pdx.edu)

to me, Eki

Hi Kristen,

You can direct these kinds of requests for proposed course review directly to this email address.

Per Will Parnell, Chair of Curriculum & Instruction: "Yes, this could be an elective for the Curriculum and Instruction department at the undergraduate level. Looks to be a wonderful course and very needed at the 100-200 level to prep for teacher ed!" ED 216 will transfer as CI LD, which counts as an elective only.

As for ED 293 and 294, those will likely also simply transfer as an elective only, but I am checking with the Chair of the Special Education department about whether those classes could apply to our Special Education major. I have not heard back from him yet however.

Thanks,

Suzanne

to me, Kylie

Hi Kristen! Thank you for your understanding in my delayed response, I am trying to coordinate your questions with others who are off campus and in other offices!

I have received confirmation that ED 216 would be equivalent to EOU Ed 130.

I am still waiting to hear from our registrar on the other two. I have just sent her another email this afternoon asking for information.

Matt-

Hey there! Hope you are well. I am trying to tie up all these loose strings regarding transferability.

Here are the questions that I am seeking answers regarding ED 216.

Could you please let me know if this course, ED 216, will be accepted in transfer as counting towards (which of the following?):

Gen Ed/Distribution required in (Arts & Letters, Social Science, Science/Computer Science, Math)

A requirement in Major (ED 216 PURPOSE, STRUCTURE, AND FUNCTION OF EDUCATION IN A DEMOCRACY)

LEARNING OUTCOMES: Describe what the student will be able to do "out there" (in their life roles as worker, family member, community citizen, global citizen or lifelong learners). Outcomes must be measurable through the application of direct and/or indirect assessment strategies. Three to six outcomes are recommended. Start each outcome with an active verb, completing the sentence starter provided. (See Writing Learning Outcomes on the curriculum website.)

Outcomes: (Use observable and measurable verbs)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- 1. Identify the different types of early childhood care and education settings that serve children birth to age eight.
- 2. Explain early childhood educators' duties.
- 3. Compose observations and self-reflections of time in ECE settings, interviews, videos, and articles.
- 4. Identify common work-related challenges and rewards and describe why the student is interested in the ECE field.

Outcomes assessment strategies:

Assessments may include group discussions, written observations, journals, selfreflections, interviews, projects, quizzes, tests, and portfolio artifacts.

COURSE CONTENT, ACTIVITIES AND DESIGN

Activity & Design: The determination of teaching strategies used in the delivery of outcomes is generally left to the discretion of the instructor. On occasion, a department may decide that the inclusion of a particular strategy will be required (specify in "required activities" box below). For example, a department may determine that a course will be required to incorporate a service learning project into its curriculum delivery. However, for the most part, delivery mechanisms fall under academic freedom and so the individuality and creativity of each instructor.

Here are some strategies that you might consider when designing your course: lecture, small group/forum discussion, flipped classroom, dyads, oral presentation, role play, simulation scenarios, group projects, service learning projects, hands-on lab, peer review/workshops, cooperative learning (jigsaw, fishbowl), inquiry based instruction, differentiated instruction (learning centers), graphic organizers, etc.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: To be used in the catalog and schedule of classes. Begin each sentence of the course description with an active verb. Avoid using the phrases: "This course will ..." and/or "Students will ..." Include course requisites in the description. Guidelines for writing concise descriptions can be found at Writing Course Descriptions.

Covers the principles of theory and development for children from birth through eight years of age, and emphasizes the physical, cognitive, social-emotional, and linguistic domains of child development. Explores how child development and learning processes occur within multiple contexts. Focuses on environmental and instructional practices that support development. Prerequisites: RD 90 and WR 90. Recommended: CAS 103W or equivalent computer skills. Audit available.

LEARNING OUTCOMES: Describe what the student will be able to do "out there" (in their life roles as worker, family member, community citizen, global citizen or lifelong learners). Outcomes must be measurable through the application of direct and/or indirect assessment strategies. Three to six outcomes are recommended. Start each outcome with an active verb, completing the sentence starter provided. (See Writing Learning Outcomes on the curriculum website)

COURSE CONTENT, ACTIVITIES AND DESIGN

Activity & Design: The determination of teaching strategies used in the delivery of outcomes is generally left to the discretion of the instructor. On occasion, a department may decide that the inclusion of a particular strategy will be required (specify in "required activities" box below). For example, a department may determine that a course will be required to incorporate a service learning project into its curriculum delivery. However, for the most part, delivery mechanisms fall under academic freedom and so the individuality and creativity of each instructor.

Here are some strategies that you might consider when designing your course: lecture, small group/forum discussion, flipped classroom, dyads, oral presentation, role play, simulation scenarios, group projects, service learning projects, hands-on lab, peer review/workshops, cooperative learning (jigsaw, fishbowl), inquiry based instruction, differentiated instruction (learning centers), graphic organizers, etc.

SECTION #2 PREREQUISITES AND OUTCOMES

Note that degree/certificate/program entry prerequisites are only enforceable in limited entry programs. Program prerequisites for open entry programs only have meaning when they are representative of prerequisites associated to specific courses within the program. Prerequisites that students are not able to test out of using Next Gen Accuplacer result in hidden degree/certificate requirements and should be avoided. (Courses that may be tested out of using Next Gen Accuplacer include: RD 90, RD 115, WR 90, WR 115, MTH 20, MTH 60, MTH 65, MTH 95, MTH 98, MTH 105, MTH 111, MTH 112.)

PROPOSED OUTCOMES

Describe what the student will be able to do "out there" (in their life roles as worker, family member, community citizen, global citizen or lifelong learners). Outcomes must be measurable through the application of direct and/or indirect assessment strategies. Three to six outcomes are recommended. Start each outcome with an active verb, completing the sentence starter provided. (See Writing Learning Outcomes on the curriculum website.)

Students who successfully complete this certificate will be able to:

- 1. Use introductory knowledge of early childhood development and of individual children in the implementation of early childhood curriculum, teaching practices, and learning environments that are safe, healthy, respectful, culturally and linguistically responsive, developmentally appropriate, supportive and challenging for each child.
- 2. Use knowledge of family structures and available community resources to establish respectful, reciprocal relationships that affirm and respect family diversity and engage families in their child's development and learning as collaborative partners.
- 3. Use observation, documentation and assessment to inform instruction and planning in early learning settings in ways that are ethically grounded and developmentally, culturally, ability, and linguistically appropriate to promote positive outcomes for each child in partnership with families and professional colleagues.
- 4. Use supportive relationships and interactions with young children along with developmentally appropriate, culturally and linguistically relevant, anti-bias and evidence-based teaching skills and strategies to meet the needs of each child.
- 5. Use critical thinking and problem solving to apply knowledge of child development and early learning standards to the implementation of curriculum across content areas, facilitating individual and group learning.
- 6. Use collaborative, reflective, and intentional practice in their work with young children and as members of the early childhood profession.
- 7. Use knowledge of history, current issues, the NAEYC Code of Ethical Conduct, and the mission of the early childhood education profession to support and advocate for young children, families and the profession.

SECTION #2 PREREQUISITES AND OUTCOMES

Note that degree/certificate/program entry prerequisites are only enforceable in limited entry programs. Program prerequisites for open entry programs only have meaning when they are representative of prerequisites associated to specific courses within the program. Prerequisites that students are not able to test out of using Next Gen Accuplacer result in hidden degree/certificate requirements and should be avoided. (Courses that may be tested out of using Next Gen Accuplacer include: RD 90, RD 115, WR 90, WR 115, MTH 20, MTH 60, MTH 65, MTH 95, MTH 98, MTH 105, MTH 111, MTH 112.)

PROPOSED OUTCOMES

Describe what the student will be able to do "out there" (in their life roles as worker, family member, community citizen, global citizen or lifelong learners). Outcomes must be measurable through the application of direct and/or indirect assessment strategies. Three to six outcomes are recommended. Start each outcome with an active verb, completing the sentence starter provided. (See Writing Learning Outcomes on the curriculum website.)

Students who successfully complete this certificate will be able to:

- 1. Use intermediate knowledge of early childhood development and of individual children for creating and implementing curriculum, teaching practices, and learning environments that are safe, healthy, respectful, culturally and linguistically responsive, developmentally appropriate, supportive and challenging for each child.
- 2. Establish respectful, reciprocal relationships that engage families in their child's development and learning as collaborative partners.
- 3. Use observation, documentation and assessment to inform instruction and planning in early learning settings.
- 4. Create an inclusive classroom culture, maintain supportive relationships and interactions with young children and use a broad repertoire of developmentally appropriate, culturally and linguistically relevant, anti-bias and evidence-based teaching skills and strategies that reflect the principles of universal design for learning and meet the needs of each child.
- 5. Use knowledge of child development and early learning standards to select and create curriculum that counters biases and stereotypes, fosters young children's interest in the content areas, and facilitates individual and group learning.
- 6. Use collaborative, reflective, and intentional practice in their work with young children and as members of the early childhood profession.
- 7. Support and advocate for young children in their care.

Section 1: Instructional Department

The ECEFS Department recommends that the Early Childhood Educator I certificate be officially suspended.

Rationale:

During the 2020 ECE & FS Program Review, substantial curricular changes to the AAS degree were deemed necessary to meet current professional standards and competencies set by the National Association for the Education of Young Children, and to meet the workforce needs in our region. We have made just under 30% of change to the AAS degree and caused over 30% of change to both of our smaller certificates, Early Childhood Educator I, and Early Childhood Education & Family Studies. Therefore, we can no longer offer these certificates. However, smaller certificates are still necessary for this profession, so we have created two new certificates to offer in their place.

Certificate/Degree Title: Early Childhood Education & Family Studies (certificate) Date 4.9.20

Section 1: Instructional Department

The ECEFS Department recommends that the Early Childhood Education & Family Studies (certificate) be officially suspended.

Rationale:

During the 2020 ECE & FS Program Review, substantial curricular changes to the AAS degree were deemed necessary to meet current professional standards and competencies set by the National Association for the Education of Young Children, and to meet the workforce needs in our region. We have made just under 30% of change to the AAS degree and caused over 30% of change to both of our smaller certificates, Early Childhood Educator I, and Early Childhood Education & Family Studies. Therefore, we can no longer offer these certificates. However, smaller certificates are still necessary for this profession, so we have created two new certificates to offer in their place.

First, we will determine if the two students are still interested in completing the ECE&FS certificate. For the first, we will identify which catalog year they are following and then determine which courses remain. If they need a course we are no longer offering, they can take it through Portland Community College. Typically, they offer ECE

| classes online, hybrid and face-to-face. Since the second student has yet to take an ECE&FS certificate course, we |

| would encourage her to choose one or both of the new certificates, if they are still interested.                   |
